

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Haying vs. Maying.

On a time I went a-Maying,
Long ago,
When much better I'd been haying,
Don't you know?
For the maiden that I Mayed with,
That I walked and talked and strayed
with,
My old heart she took and played with—
She did so.

If I hadn't gone a-Maying,
Long ago,
But, instead, had gone a-haying,
Don't you know,
Then the hay I would have hayed with,
I could use it now to trade with,
And to win another maid with,
I could so.

Sponsors and Maids.

General Theodore S. Garrett, of Norfolk, commanding the Virginia division of United Confederate Veterans, has appointed Miss Lily Cary, the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. W. Miles Cary, sponsor-in-chief for the State of Virginia at the Confederate reunion, to be held in Louisville, Kentucky, next month. Miss Cary's maid of honor will be her first cousin, Miss Virginia McPhail Talcott, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. T. M. R. Talcott. These young ladies are charmingly identified with the Confederate life, and will be typical representatives of Old Dominion grace and beauty in young womanhood.

The same thing may be truly said of the young ladies selected as chief sponsor and maid for Virginia by the Sons of Veterans. Their choice has most happily fallen upon Miss Anne Salley, of Newport News, for sponsor, and Miss Emily Byrd Wilson, of Norfolk, as maid. The young ladies have the prospect of brilliant entertainments to be given in their honor at the reunion.

At the Woman's Club.

Miss Anne Steger Winston gave an author's reading to a delighted audience at the Woman's Club last afternoon, when a story written by her, with the scene laid in Southwest Virginia, was presented by Miss Winston with a force and cleverness that added much to its very unusual merit.

"Two and the Terror" was the title of the story, which is shortly to be brought out in Scribner's Magazine. Those who were among the number enjoying the privilege of hearing it in advance predict for it a full measure of success. Miss Winston united to a quick and sympathetic knowledge of human nature, a quaint and delicate humor that, blended with a fine power of expression, renders her a thoroughly delightful and companionable writer.

All of the qualities that commend her style were most noticeable in "Two and the Terror." By request, Miss Winston also read last afternoon one of her compositions published in the "Outlook" two years ago, under the caption of "Grizelda of the Castle."

The special guests of the afternoon were Mrs. C. R. Winston, Miss Daisy Winston, Mrs. Hill Montague, Miss Gilberta White, Mrs. W. J. Young and Miss Jane Starnard. At the reception fees, cake and lemonade were served.

Alexander Volk Artist.

It has developed that the bust of General Stonewall Jackson, recently presented to the Confederate Museum by Mr. George A. Bruce, of Boston, through Dr. James P. Smith, of Richmond, was executed by the late Alexander Volk, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Thomas B. Gresham, of Baltimore, who attended the unveiling of the Maryland memorial window in the Museum on May 15th, has since forwarded a letter to the artist, Mr. Volk, written by

The Peerless Manufacturing Company make Underwear for the finest trade of New York and other large cities. Through some of the trade accidents a large quantity of their goods were sold at auction. We were fortunate in getting several large lots at a remarkable price advantage.

It not only refers to the popular priced goods, but to the finer ones as well.

YOUTH'S AGITATIONS.

By MATTHEW ARNOLD.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

WHEN I shall be divorced, some ten years hence,
From this poor present self which I am now;
When youth has done its tedious vain expense
Of passions that forever ebb and flow;

Shall I not joy youth's heats are left behind,
And breathe more happy in an even clime?—
Ah, no, for then I shall begin to find
A thousand virtues in this hated time!

Then I shall wish its agitations back,
And all its thwarting currents of desire;
Then I shall praise the heat which then I lack,
And call this hurrying fever, generous fire;

And sigh that one thing only has been lent
To youth and age in common—discontent.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1904. One is published each day.

Dr. Volk, also an artist, in which he states that the bust was made from a death mask, taken by his brother, the day after General Jackson's death. The bust was overlooked when Mr. Volk left Richmond, and Mr. Bruce, who visited the Museum with his daughter and a young friend, May 15th of this year, said that he found it on the mantel of what is now the Virginia room in the building in 1903.

It was given to him by General Halleck. He took it to Boston, and it remained in his possession until last autumn, when Dr. Smith made his speech in Boston on "Stonewall Jackson," and Mr. Bruce took the opportunity of making a graceful and highly appreciated act of restitution. The ladies are most grateful to him and to Dr. Smith, whose lectures on General Jackson and General Lee in Boston have done so much to awaken in that community truer ideas and correcter estimates of the two great Southern chieftains.

A photograph sent by Mrs. Gresham to Miss Maury of Mr. Volk's bust, rendered its identification complete. It is now in the Solid South room, and will be seen with great interest by visitors to the Museum.

Annual Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Pocahontas Woman's Club was held May 19th at the Pocahontas Inn.

The dining room was beautifully decorated, and the ladies most exquisitely gowned, showed by their conversation and flashes of wit that their minds were equally as well groomed. Shakespeare's play, "Julius Caesar," was discussed and well handled. Mrs. Trotter's paper on the character of "Caesar" was very fine, and was followed by one on "Brutus and Anthony," by Miss Brock, which was no less good. The music was exceptionally sweet. Mrs. Umberger was the pianist, Miss Baech the violinist and Mrs. Van Doran the soloist. Miss Gertrude Haller gave several recitations in her elegant and charming style. Judge Henson was speaker of the evening, followed by every gentleman present, each vying with the other in their expressions of admiration for the club.

Those present were the officers—Mrs. J. P. Haller, president; Mrs. J. W. H. Lawford, vice-president; Mrs. C. M. Galloway, secretary; Miss Reba Browning, treasurer; Mrs. M. Block, Mrs. William Leckie, Mrs. J. T. Ward, Mrs. J. T. Young, Mrs. H. M. Umberger, Mrs. G. H. Zimmerman, Mrs. J. W. L. Trotter, Mrs. W. P. Morris, Mrs. Ira Van Doran, Miss Brock and Miss Haller; Messrs. Block, Leckie, Silks, Young, Umberger, Morris, Van Doran, Lawford, Jones, Dr. Haller, Judge Henson, Colonel Browning.

At the last meeting of the club previous to the banquet, upon the resignation of the former officers, the following were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Lawford, president; Mrs. Van Doran, vice-president; Mrs. Umberger, secretary, and Mrs. Block, treasurer.

Excursionists to Jamestown This Week to Have Unexpected Treat.

The general public, naturally, has few opportunities to visit the famous Colonial houses on James river. They are remote from towns or country hotels and, therefore, can usually only be visited by the private guests of the owners. Mr. Harrison, of Brandon, who is a deeply interested member of the A. P. P., has again this year thrown open the beautiful home to the excursionists, and the knowledge of this has added largely to the number who desire to go. The lovely gardens, unexcelled anywhere on the river, the stately Colonial home, and the large collection of historic portraits form a most attractive combination. Along with this is the generous hospitality of Mr. Harrison, and the family, who make each excursionist feel like a specially invited guest.

That day may be given to both Jamestown and Brandon the committee desires to notify the public that the statement that tickets for the excursion, which is intended to be carried out faithfully.

The sale of tickets last week, as far as the excursion is concerned, was so successful, and there is no doubt that this week the great demand will continue. All those who desire to go on the excursion are advised to purchase tickets at some one of the places given in the advertisement. Of course all tickets which are not sold in advance are certainly a great rush for them; but those who arrive first at the wharf, last year many late comers failed to get tickets.

FACE THE VICTIM.

Austin Johnson Will Have Preliminary Hearing.

Austin Johnson, the negro charged with attempted criminal assault upon little Ruth Pinchbeck, will be given a preliminary hearing before Judge of the Peace Thomas, of Henrico county, also this morning on the charge of criminal assault and high misdemeanor, either of which, in the event of conviction, is sufficient to hang him. He is alleged to have committed the crime on a boat upon a narrow channel, and afterwards stole $2.50 from his victim. The alleged crime was committed several days ago, and had been out of the city, and did not return until last week. Constable Burch arrested him.

"Watching the Cork."

Postmaster Wray T. Knight is suffering some uneasiness and discomfort by reason of a boil on his neck, but is attending to his official duties as usual. When asked yesterday as to his prospects for another term as postmaster, Mr. Knight replied: "I'm still watching the cork," a reference to a recent statement that all his could do was to "sit still in the boat and watch the cork," a fishing metaphor illustrative of his attitude toward the matter of reappointment. There is reason to believe that the postmaster can get the very strongest endorsement for reappointment and plenty of time, if these count for aught.

MERCHANT DROWNED IN THE AQUA CREEK

Large Mill Pond in Caroline Breaks—Church Claim Paid.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDRICKSBURG, VA., May 22.—Mr. Milton E. Rose, a merchant of Stafford county, and postmaster at Ruby postoffice, was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in Aqua Creek, near Coal Landing. He was with two companions, and it is supposed that he was taken with the cramps, as, after diving several times, he failed to come up the last time. He was twenty-eight years old and is survived by a widow and three children. A large party has been dragging for the body, but up to noon to-day it had not been recovered.

Senator John W. Daniel, Major Robert W. Hunter, Colonel W. E. Cutshaw, Judge George L. Christian and Major A. J. Garber composed a distinguished party who spent Friday and Saturday visiting the battlefields of Spotsylvania County, the Wilderness and Chancellorsville, in Spotsylvania county, returning here Saturday night. Yesterday they visited the famous battlefields immediately around Fredericksburg, and left to-day, Senator Daniel and Major Hunter going to Washington and the others of the party to Richmond.

At the Baptist Church last night W. S. Chesley, Dr. J. E. Tompkins, Nelson Decker, H. W. Willenheucher, Colonel E. D. Cole and B. P. Willis, who were recently elected deacons of the church, were ordained to that office. The occasion was of special interest, and a large audience was present. Rev. R. A. Williams, pastor of the church, presided, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. T. S. Dunaway, former pastor of the church, and Rev. Andrew Brondus, of Caroline county.

The large mill pond of Mrs. Jane Skinner, at Moss Neck, Caroline county, broke several days ago, caused by leaks under the flood gate, entailing a loss of $1,000. This pond for years has been one of the most noted fishing places in this section.

The Court of Claims at Washington has allowed $60, the full amount asked for, on the claim of Berea Baptist Church, in Stafford county, for damages done to the church property by Federal troops during the Civil War.

Mr. J. H. Mills, of Spotsylvania county, has purchased of Mr. B. H. Roberts, of North Chilly, New York, his farm in this county, containing 220 acres. Mr. Mills will take immediate possession.

Lightning struck the grand stand on the fair grounds of the Tappanhook Agricultural and Stock Association, in Essex county, last week, and tore the entire roof off.

YOUNG ARRESTED.

Negro Wanted in Prince Edward Captured in New York.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENSBORO, N. Y., May 22.—Richard Young, who shot and killed Andrew Young, colored, at a Christmas tree entertainment last December, has been caught in White Plains, N. Y., and is being held by authorities there until Officer Dickinson and deputy Sheriff Edward county, can reach there.

It will be remembered that four others were arrested and placed in the Farmville jail before the fact of the murder of Page, but they were released. The capture of Young has caused great excitement among the colored people here, as Young has the reputation of being a desperate man, having been tried and sentenced on one of the many occasions.

Young when he left here was driven away the same night of the killing by Andrew Scott, who claims that he was forced to do so at the point of a pistol, and as he feared to resist, he carried him to Farmville and he there boarded the Richmond train and this is the first heard of Young since.

Cluster Springs Academy.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BLAIRSTOWN, N. J., May 22.—The commencement exercises of Cluster Springs Academy will take place on the 28th to 30th, and will mark the end of a very successful term of this well-known school.
